- What is the difference between general industry standards and construction standards?
- If I am in construction do I need to follow the general industry standards and vice versa?
- How to start a safety program? What are the job posting requirements?
- How do I decide what to put in the program?

OSHA's big four will also be covered as well as these questions:

- What about general safety like emergency preparedness, fire protection, first aid and medical attention? Hazard Communication and personal protective equipment?
- What is required in new hire training, ongoing safety training, and as needed training?

Examples and resources of ongoing training and general safety guidelines will be provided.
