OPTIMIZING WATER EFFICIENCY BENEFITS IN COMMERCIAL BUILDINGS

The green building movement has challenged manufacturers, design teams and owners to create products and designs that have a minimal impact on the environment while contributing to the health and well-being of those who live and work in the built space. One of the concerns driving the changes? We can no longer rely on an endless supply of potable water — in some parts of the US, as well as across the globe.

This course will explore how to earn indoor water use reduction credits in green building rating systems, such as LEED v4 and Green Globes. We will focus on plumbing fixtures and fittings that are aesthetically pleasing and have been thoughtfully designed to maximize indoor water use efficiency without sacrificing performance for the end user.
