

Steve Scoggan, CPA
Leverich Group

Steve Scoggan, a partner at the Leverich Group, has been with the firm since 1995, and a partner since 2000. He provides accounting, tax and management consulting services to privately held construction contractors and other industries. He has extensive hands-on experience in coaching and assisting owners in dealing with complex tax, accounting, management, organizational, personnel and motivational challenges.

Steve's specialty is helping companies deal with the issues and details related to growth, or in recent years, shrinkage. He assists company management with tax and financial planning, banking and bonding, as well as assisting in the training of company financial personnel. Steve enjoys the dynamics of small and medium size businesses, and has experience helping clients obtain credit, plan for succession, or prepare for sale.

Steve is a member of the American Association of Certified Public Accountants and the Utah Association of Certified Public Accountants, and is a licensed CPA in Utah and New York. He also has been, and currently is a member and board member of various Utah construction associations.

Prior to joining the firm, Steve co-owned and managed a family multi-operation business. He graduated with honors from California State University, Los Angeles with a bachelor's degree in business administration with an accounting option. Steve started his career with the national CPA firm KPMG Peat Marwick in Los Angeles and New York City. He has resided in Park City since 1988.
