89 90	• Ryan Snow reported to the Council the reason and purpose for the study and introduced Mike Swallow who conducted that study. Noted that Mr. Swallow was present tonight via zoom and would be giving a presentation on his findings.
91 22	would be giving a presentation on his findings.
92	• Mike Swallow presented an in-depth compensation study which included discussions on worth of
93	work, employee engagement, the market analysis and the development of a pay plan. The analysis
94	highlighted the city's position in the market in terms of starting pay rates being approximately 25
95 96	percent behind the group of public entities considered in the survey. Additionally, the presentation incorporated various strategic considerations for compensation planning and navigating through
97	pay plan management.
98 99 100	• The Council reviewed the compensation study report from Mike Swallow. The presentation detailed the new pay plan and the process for adjusting employee compensation. No formal action was required or taken; the information was received and reviewed for further consideration and

- $\triangleright$ Item No. 5 Providence City Justice Court Future Plans: The Providence City Council will 136 review, discuss, and may take action on how to best move forward with the Providence City Justice Court. 137 Judge Funk resigned as a judge in January, Judge Lorz has been acting as interim judge since the 138 resignation. 139 140
  - Mayor Alder called item 5, gave a brief introduction and asked staff to give an overview of possible plans for the Justice Court.
  - Staff reviewed with the Council what their options were with the justice since Judge Funk resigned which included doing a interlocal agreement with another city, disbanding the justice court or setting out to hire a new judge.
  - The Council deliberated on the future plans for the Providence City Justice Court. Specifically, discussions revolved around the success of the interim judge conducting proceedings virtually and the implications of potentially ending the city-operated justice court and those associated costs. This entailed considering experiences from other cities that moved away from city-operated justice courts and the not foreseen cost efficiencies of disbanding the court.
  - The Council decided to continue with the current virtual arrangement and to begin the process of formalizing this arrangement as permanent. Staff noted that they would have to go through the hiring process of hiring a new judge but that Judge Lorz, who is the current interim judge would continue to be the judge until the process was complete.
- Motion that Providence City continue with the Justice Court virtually and that the city take the 156 necessary steps to hire a permanent Judge. – Council Member Speth. 2nd – Council Member Kirk. 157 Vote: 158 159

- > Item No. 6 Short Term Rentals Code Amendment Review: The Providence City Council will 169 review, study, and discuss code amendments regulating short term rentals. (CODE REVIEW) 170
  - Mayor Alder called item 6 and gave a brief introduction.
- The Council undertook a review of proposed amendments to the city's codes regarding short-term 173 rentals. The discussion tackled the clarification of rules, enforcement mechanisms, the potential 174 consequences of investor-driven property acquisitions, and public concern over the impact of 175 short-term rentals on local housing markets. 176

City Council minutes 4-17-24

177	• One particular point of contention was a provision that required short-term rentals to be the owner's
178	primary residence, with some Council Members suggesting an amendment or exploration of
179	alternative regulation approaches to address this provision.
180	• The goal of the review was to ensure orderly management of short-term rentals under city
181	jurisdiction, responding mainly to state legislation.
182	• No formal action was taken as the Council sought more information and continued to review.
