Thank you, Paula. Also I'd like to point out as there wasn't enough room on the submission form that there's been a number of studies published in the last year linking higher home values to access to fiber internet.

So I would also like to make sure the city council and mayor are also considering the fact that some people like myself if looking to buy a home in the area they would probably steer clear of areas lacking modern fiber internet access. Which will have negative impact on home values. This effect I think can be reasonably anticipated to become more significant over time.

Thanks,

Mark Henderson
