Uintah County

Geologic Overview

Manco B is composed of interbedded sandstone and mudstone encased by the Manco Shale Range.

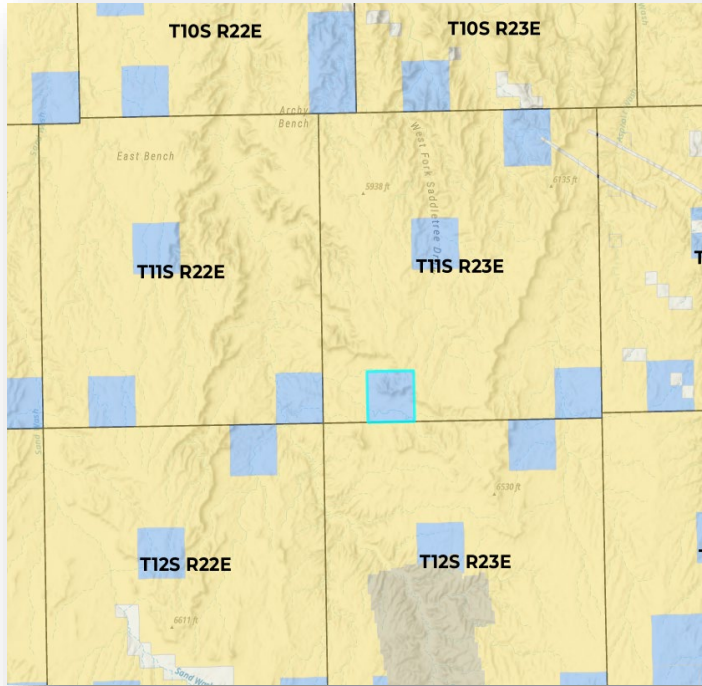

Manco B wells completed to the north have produced high initial production results of over 50,000 bbls of oil in their first year.

There are potentially three other intervals in the area that could be equally successful in the area for high oil production.

For more information check Tyler's report on our website: Geologic Characterization and Production Potential of the Manco B Interval, Eastern Uintah Basin, Utah

ML 54438 OBA Rationale & Recommendation

Anschutz is a diligent operator and has already successfully drilled two similar wells in the area.

If the well is drilled, TLA be withing a Participating Area within the Chess Unit.

A well could be drilled on our acreage in less than 3 years.

The Lease will be committed to the unit and be considered in Anschutz drilling schedule for future wells.

This OBA proposal was reviewed by the Energy & Minerals Committee.

The Energy & Minerals group requests the Board approve the ML 54438 OBA
