Raise the Cap

This November, Utahns will vote on constitutional amendment that would raise the current cap on distributions from the Permanent School Fund from 4% to 5%.

If the amendment were in place today, students would have received $15 million beyond the $102 million in LAND Trust distributions they received this school year.

THIS NOVEMBER

Utahns will vote on an amendment increasing the LAND Trust distribution cap from 4% to 5%

Raising the cap costs taxpayers nothing, it simply increases the percentage of LAND Trust distributions schools may receive from the Permanent School Fund.

- This constitutional amendment aims to create more balanced distributions from the Permanent School Fund for current and future school children.
- Established at statehood, the Permanent School Fund tops $3.3 billion. This perpetual endowment provides funding for critical academic needs identified by each School Community Council.
- If the amendment were in place today, students would have received $120 million rather than $106 million in LAND Trust distributions for the 2024/25 school year.
- This amendment is NOT related to a proposed amendment dealing with an earmark on income tax funding for public education.

$106 MILLION
will be distributed to Utah
K-12 schools for the 2024-25
school year.

If the Raise the Cap
constitutional amendment were in place today, Utah schools would be receiving

$120 MILLION
at no cost to Utah taxpayers.

Trust Distributions from the $3.3 billion Permanent State School Fund.

This November, Utahns
will vote on an amendment to increase the cap on distributions from the Permanent State School
Fund from 4% to 5%.

Raise the Cap to 5% column
shows how much each district would have received
if the Raise the Cap
Amendment were in place currently.

The Utah Trust System provides significant funding to support public schools at no cost to taxpayers.

Money earned from school trust lands is invested by the School and Institutional Trust Funds Office.

Revenue and investment have grown the permanent fund to $3.3 billion today.

Growth

- Public Equity structure returns were strongly positive over the trailing one year, led by US Large Cap.
- Equities had a mild drawdown in Q3 2023 as long-term interest rates spiked above 5% with fears of “Higher for Longer.”
- This drawdown abruptly ended in Q4 2023 with both stocks and bonds rallying in the hope of a Soft Landing and rate cuts in 2024.
- In Q1 2024, strong price momentum and robust economic data pushed many stock indices to all time highs, even as hopes for a Soft Landing diminished and rates drifted back higher.
- Private Equity fundraising slowed and was concentrated into mega-funds while secondaries accelerated. Exit activity remained depressed, leading to flat multiples and lower IRRs.

Real Assets

- Structure returns for Public Real Assets were modestly positive over the trailing one year but had a high degree of dispersion.
- High-duration sectors (e.g., real estate and infrastructure), moved in line with equities and bonds in Q3 and Q4 of 2023 as interest rates spiked and then fell. These sectors were somewhat flat in Q1 2024 as equities and bonds diverged.
- Sectors with higher commodity sensitivity had relatively flat performance over the year as major commodity markets were mostly range bound.
- While public real estate prices have increased, private real estate valuations and transactions continue to lag.

- The Public Income structure indices had solid positive performance over the trailing one year. In general, Public Income benefited from high short term interest rates and tightening credit spreads.
- At the structural level, ILS was the top performer. As discussed in 2023's asset class structure review for Income, ILS looks historically cheap and poised for strong performance because of improved insurance covenants and higher yields.
- Private income continued to experience strong capital formation during recent quarters as banking pressures have reduced the sector's supply. Elevated base rates however continue to mute demand.

Defensive

- The Defensive benchmarks had mixed performance over the trailing one year.
- STRIPS continued to struggle as interest rates moved higher in Q2 and Q3 of 2023. While STRIPS rallied in Q4, robust economic data and hotter than expected inflation moved interest rates higher in Q1 2024.
- Trend and Macro broadly had a strong start to 2024. Profitable trades included long positions in Equities, Gold, and Cocoa and short positions in Natural Gas and the Yen.

- Investment Decision Process (IDP) attribution is a model intended to reflect and allocate performance contribution across the various phases of portfolio structuring.
  - As the first step of structuring an efficient portfolio is determining the appropriate policy target blend, IDP attribution begins with calculating the performance derived by the broad exposures of the composite in question as well as any deviations from those targets.
  - Consistent with portfolio design, once a policy allocation is in place, each asset class is then structured to optimize the risk/return characteristics of the composite. IDP follows this logic by then attributing performance based on these structural decisions.
  - Lastly, structuring a portfolio would end with finding the best managers to execute within the prescribed allocation and structure. IDP similarly looks to lastly attribute performance that can be derived by manager out/under-performance.

- SAA – Strategic Asset Allocation
  - Strategic Asset Allocation looks to capture the beta return each sub-asset class exposure contributes to total composite performance when positioned at policy target.
- TAA – Tactical Asset Allocation
  - Tactical Asset Allocation looks to measure the impact that deviations from the prescribed policy targets for a given composite contribute to composite performance.
- SS – Style Selection
  - Style Selection looks to measure the contributions to composite returns caused by deviations in sub-asset class structure relative to broad sub-asset class benchmarks.
- MS – Manager Skill
  - Manager Skill captures the remaining attribution that can be attributed to each sub-asset classes managers relative to their individual benchmarks.
