ACTION ITEMS

1. Discussion on Civilian Review Board Standing Rules. Board Chair Glad said that she would like to have monthly discussions on the Board's standing rules in order to address any questions the board may have and make updates as needed.

Board Chair Glad updated the board on changes that were made to the agenda layout in the standing rules. This will help with consistency and structure of the meeting.

The Board discussed time limits on public comments and scheduling items for discussion.

Board Chair Glad asked what the Board's preference is on having the member that conducts rotate every meeting or just having the Board Chair conduct every meeting.

Board Member Miller sees the rotation of the conducting member as a training opportunity.

City Attorney, Josh Collins, pointed out the benefits of going either direction with the conducting member. He agrees that there are training opportunities but on the other hand having the Chair conduct every time provides consistency.

The Board decided to change the rules so that the Chair is the conducting member of the Board, with the Vice Chair taking on that role in the Chair's absence. In the training section of the Rules any member could have the opportunity to conduct if they wanted.

Board Member Miller made a motion to approve the rule changes to section one of the CRB standing rules and procedures.
