CALL TO ORDER

Josh Yost called the meeting to order at 5:02 p.m.

City Staff listed above, Planning Commissioners and the City Council Representative attended a retreat in the Multi-Purpose Room in the Civic Center. Dinner was served. There was a presentation by Laura Thompson, City Planner, on what the General Plan is and the history of the last General Plan completed.

The Planning Commissioners raised questions about ensuring diversity on the boards and committees involved in the General Plan process, so all of Springville residents can be represented. They mentioned age, perspective, geographic and race diversity. Ways to handle outreach were discussed. They discussed Front Runner rail coming and how that can affect homelessness and crime.

Josh Yost, Community Development Director, presented the scope of the process and elements and chapters we get into for the General Plan and who and what is involved.

Carla Wiese, City Planner, tested the planning knowledge of the Commissioners with a Jeopardy game. No voting or legislative actions were taken.

The meeting was adjourned at 6:50 p.m.
