1. Call to Order

Brian Hulet called this meeting of the Economic Development Board of Payson City, Utah, to order at 7:35 a.m. The meeting was properly noticed.

2. Prior Minutes Approval

MOTION: Lynn Abplanalp– To approve the October 8, 2025, minutes. Motion seconded by David Charles. Those voting yes: Bill Wright, Larry Skinner, Lynn Abplanalp, David Charles, Mark Kershaw, and Dave Tuckett.

The motion carried.

3. Tour Innovation Center (7:40 a.m.)

Payson City staff and members of the Economic Development Board toured the Innovation Center at the MTECH Building. After the tour, members and staff discussed how to get the word out about the Innovation Center. Jim Rowland stated that newsletters get sent to members of the Payson Santaquin

Area Chamber of Commerce and he could include advertising for the center. Others recommended media advertisements and tours for other chambers. Robert Mills suggested that the website be built as soon as possible. Recommendations included introductions to local City Councils, youth groups, and other community boards when the director is hired and in place. It was agreed that social media is a tool that could get the word out quickly among youth and all community members alike. Brian Hulet stated that the structure for hourly rates and equipment rentals has not been finalized but is in the works. Board members wondered if competition would be created among other businesses in the area like printing and binding. Jim Rowland discussed the challenges that may come with people coming into the innovation center without prior knowledge of how to use specialized equipment. Board members discussed how education could take place like internships. Robert Mills suggested that with upcoming fee schedule updates at Payson City, the new fees associated with the Innovation Center be implemented. Brian Hulet asked what partnerships could be pursued to strengthen the Innovation Center. Robert Mills suggested that partnerships with financial institutions may help community members who are looking for financial assistance. Brian Hulet indicated other groups and organizations in Utah that may be willing to partner with the Innovation Center. Board members discussed how to reach and connect with universities and programs already offered in the county. Brian Hulet asked how the Innovation Center should be funded in the long term. Suggestions included memberships and user fees, public/private partnerships, and sponsorships. Further discussion on funding included ongoing donations from larger entities as well as businesses that started small and had success in the area. Members asked how donations would benefit local companies and how presentations could be made. Kim Holindrake stated that recognition and promotions could be included on the future website. Members suggested that businesses could participate in mentorships and be actively involved in programs if they chose to donate to the center. Lastly, Brian Hulet asked what outcomes would make the Innovation Center a success in 5 years. Jim Rowland stated that highlighting success stories in the future would gauge how successful the Innovation Center has been for businesses.
