Instructions to Bidders.

For all further requirements regarding bid submittal, qualifications, procedures, and contract award, refer to the Bidding Documents.

The City reserves the right, after selection of the lowest responsive and responsible bidder and prior to execution of a construction contract, to engage in discussions and negotiations with the selected bidder regarding potential value-engineering revisions, scope refinements, alternate materials or methods, schedule adjustments, or other mutually agreeable modifications intended to reduce project cost, improve constructability, or enhance project efficiency. Any such discussions or negotiations shall not obligate the City to award a contract or alter the competitive nature of the procurement process. If the City and the selected bidder are unable to reach agreement on acceptable terms, the City reserves the right to terminate negotiations and proceed in any manner authorized by law, including award to another responsive bidder or rejection of all bids.
