Hi!

You were on the list I send it to. I also sent it to the mayor and a few what I hope are council people. I want it as a citizen comment for the meeting. Thanks so much!

Dear council member,

I write to address the responsibility that comes with the planning and execution of city-sponsored events.

Every citizen has the right to assemble, celebrate, advocate, and organize around the causes they believe in. I fully support that right. But there is a significant difference between protecting someone's right to hold an event and using taxpayer dollars and the City of North Salt Lake's name to sponsor it. Special-interest groups should not be able to expect the city to promote or financially support their particular agenda. When the city sponsors an event, the standard should be simple: Does this event bring our community together and serve the broader public? City sponsorship should unite us, not divide us. Events supporting and celebrating Pride, LGBTQ+ and pro-transgender events do not serve the broader public.

I ask that you let private organizations advocate for their causes privately. Let citizens freely celebrate what matters to them. But when the City lends its money, resources, and name to an event, choose events that unite North Salt Lake rather than asking residents to subsidize issues that divide us.

Thank you,

Karma Nielsen
