October 16, 2026

Dear Representative Chevrier,

Please accept this report as a response to your May 19, 2026, letter addressed to the Utah Privacy Commission (Commission). Your letter requested that the Commission review the practices, standards, privacy implications, and civil liberties concerns associated with automatic license plate reader (ALPR) technologies and recommend potential statutory amendments, regulatory improvements, guiding standards, and best practices related to the technical and legal framework governing ALPR systems and technologies.

The fourteen members of the Commission represent a broad cross-section of expertise in the area of privacy policy, including representatives of the private sector, law enforcement, and government, as set forth in Utah Code Section 63A-19-203. The Commission held public meetings at which significant additional input was received from a wide spectrum of stakeholders. A draft report was created by a task force of the Commission, and then debated and revised in two Commission meetings. The Commission is proud to offer this report and its ongoing assistance in efforts to improve the privacy posture in the State of Utah by working directly with policymakers.

The Commission is available to answer any questions you may have with respect to this report or offer further assistance at your preference.

Sincerely,

/s/
David Sonnenreich
Chair, Utah Privacy Commission
