Fruit Heights General Plan Update, 2026-2027

What is a General Plan?

The General Plan is Fruit Heights' long-range guide for land use, housing, transportation, parks, water, and public services. It records what residents value and sets goals and policies that the Planning Commission and City Council use when making decisions. Utah law requires every city to have one.

A General Plan does: advisory document that sets the community's vision and priorities, and guides future zoning, budgets, and capital projects.

A General Plan does not: rezone property or approve specific developments. Those require separate public processes.

Why update now?

The 2023 General Plan is a solid foundation. This update responds to questions and concerns residents have raised since its adoption, reflects recent changes in state law, addresses new issues, and makes the plan clearer and easier to use.

What will the plan cover?

Land Use • Housing • Transportation & Trails • Parks & Open Space • Water • Economic Development • Public Facilities • Community Design

Our Process

1. Understand “Today” (Sep–Oct 2026): Gather data and review existing conditions.
2. Listen & Envision (Oct–Dec 2026): Community visioning event, surveys, and interviews. ◀ We are here
3. Draft the Plan (Nov 2026–Feb 2027): Update goals and policies for each topic.
4. Public Review (Feb–Apr 2027): Incorporate new legislation. Review the full draft and share comments.
5. Adoption (Apr–Jul 2027): Public hearings before the Planning Commission and City Council.

How You Can Participate

- Visit the project website. Each topic has its own page where you can learn more and leave comments.
- Take our online surveys. Short, topic-specific surveys will be posted throughout the project.
- Attend the community visioning event: [Date and location TBD]
- Review the draft plan as it is being developed through spring 2027.
- Speak at public hearings before the Planning Commission and City Council.

MIH Strategies Recommended by the City Council

1. Strategy (L): Reduce, waive, or eliminate impact fees related to moderate income housing
2. Strategy (K): Preserve existing and new moderate-income housing and subsidized units by utilizing a landlord incentive program, providing for deed restricted units through a grant program, or, notwithstanding Section 10-21-301, establishing a housing loss mitigation fund.
3. Strategy (S): Ratify a joint acquisition agreement with another local political subdivision for the purpose of combining resources to acquire property for moderate income housing

MIH Strategies Recommended by the Planning Commission

1. Strategy A – Rezone for densities necessary to facilitate the production of moderate-income housing.

The Commission discussed the adoption of R-1-6 zoning and the possibility of rezoning two parcels to R-3. The Commission also recommended continuing to identify appropriate areas for potential higher-density development as part of the City's new General Plan.

2. Strategy E – Create or allow for, and reduce regulations related to, internal or detached accessory dwelling units in residential zones.

The Commission discussed the City's existing Internal Accessory Dwelling Unit (IADU) regulations and the possibility of temporarily waiving or reducing fees for one year to encourage more property owners to register or establish IADUs.

The Commission also discussed the need to adopt an ordinance for External/Detached Accessory Dwelling Unit (EADU/DADU) This could be another opportunity to increase housing options for residents.

The City could consider advertising and encouraging property owners to take advantage of reduced or no fee to register their IADU for 1 year.

3. Strategy F – Zone or rezone for higher-density or moderate-income residential development in commercial or mixed-use zones near major transit investment corridors, commercial centers, or employment centers.

The Commission agreed that this remains one of the more practical strategies for Fruit Heights City. Members discussed using the General Plan update to identify potential infill locations where higher-density residential development could be considered in the future, without committing the city to actual rezoning.

4. Strategy I – Amend land use regulations to allow for single-room occupancy developments.

The Commission discussed whether this strategy could potentially apply to future senior housing or room-rental opportunities. Members noted that current City regulations do not allow single-room occupancy developments but agreed that the concept may be worth exploring as housing needs continue to evolve.

The Commission also discussed the possibility of creating a Senior Housing Overlay Zone as a potential option.

5. Strategy O – Apply for or partner with an entity that applies for state or federal funds or tax incentives to promote the construction or preservation of moderate-income housing.

The Commission discussed the possibility of partnering with neighboring communities or other organizations that administer affordable housing programs. Members also discussed the potential for supporting existing housing within Fruit Heights City but agreed that additional information would be needed before considering this strategy further.

The Commission also discussed the possibility of working with Davis County or other existing programs that may provide opportunities for moderate-income housing.

Any commitment of City funds or taxpayer resources toward such a program would require consideration and approval by the City Council.

6. Strategy Q – Eliminate impact fees for any accessory dwelling unit that is not an internal accessory dwelling unit as defined in Section 10-21-101.

The Commission discussed whether waiving impact fees for detached Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) could encourage additional housing opportunities. However, members noted that any waiver of fees would ultimately result in the cost being absorbed by the City or its taxpayers.

The Commission also discussed how the City's new EADU/DADU ordinance may affect utility requirements. If detached ADUs are required to have separate utility connections, this could create additional infrastructure needs, including potential upgrades to water lines, sewer systems, electrical service, or other utilities.

7. Strategy V – Create or allow for, and reduce regulations related to, multifamily residential dwellings compatible in scale and form with detached single-family residential dwellings and located in walkable communities within residential or mixed-use zones.

The Commission discussed this strategy as being similar to the City's existing R-3 zoning. Members agreed that future higher-density residential projects that are compatible in scale and form with surrounding single-family neighborhoods could demonstrate progress toward this objective.

The Commission also noted that the two potential projects currently being considered could potentially contribute toward meeting this strategy.
