- Join Tim for visits in-state visits with the governor, state legislators or local elected officials. There is a lot of flexibility in these meetings: Tim can work with you to find the time and/or location that works best for you.
- Join Tim for visits with our congressional delegation: the visits can take place here in their state offices or you can join Tim Washington, D.C.
- Join Tim at a national conference dealing with government relations issues and possibly participate as a speaker or panelist.
- SLCC tries to be actively involved and play a leadership role in several national organizations that advocate for higher education and community colleges. There are many possible ways to become involved:
 - ✓ Participate in a national conference
 - ✓ Serve on a board or committee that focuses on government relations and advocacy
 - ✓ Reach out to our delegation and other officials on issues of interest or concern to the College and to the association
- Tim often invites state and federal elected officials to the College to speak to students, faculty and staff. Your attendance would be welcome.
