—Sir Ken Robinson,

ADOBE IS CHANGING THE WORLD THROUGH DIGITAL EXPERIENCES

For more than 35 years, the company's award-winning software and technologies have redefined education, business, entertainment, and personal communications by setting new standards for producing and delivering content that engages people virtually anywhere at any time. From rich images in print, video, and film to dynamic digital content for a variety of media, the impact of Adobe solutions is felt by anyone who creates, views, and interacts with information.

WHY CREATIVITY MATTERS IN EDUCATION

Creative thinking deserves a much higher priority in education curriculums according to college-educated professionals surveyed in recent research commissioned by Adobe. Almost nine out of ten professionals agree that creativity is required for economic growth and is valuable to society and 85% agree that creative thinking is critical for problem solving in their career. With the challenges the world is facing today in our global economy, in our environment, and in social issues, the need for creative ideas has never been greater. Which is why we believe creativity must be a priority in education.

Creativity is for everyone. Educators have an opportunity and an obligation to foster creativity in their students, while also helping them develop digital skills. When students become creators of digital content, they can amplify their ideas and increase their impact in everything they do.

ACCESS TO CREATIVE TOOLS

These digital skills are vital to helping students become creative thinkers and problems solvers and ultimately improving their success in school and after graduation. In today's digital age, many companies are looking for graduates with the ability to effectively express ideas and communicate information using a full range of digital media and formats, from dynamic documents and images to animations, videos, mobile applications, and more.

Institutions are not only seeing that widespread access to leading technology helps keep students more engaged in learning, it can also make an institution more appealing to prospective students. At the same time, simplified and centralized software licensing programs positively impact institutional operations by reducing IT administration costs.

The Adobe ETLA offers students and educators affordable access to industry-leading creative apps and services and we support educators with a broad array of instructional resources and professional development programs. Adobe can help you ignite creativity at your institution.

WHY ADOBE?

Adobe provides the world's leading set of tools and services utilized in the industry to create professional content. 95% of the top 500 organizations around the globe are using Adobe technology to create, manage and measure their professional content and creative initiatives. There are no direct competitors to the Adobe Creative Cloud as no other company can provide the wide range of creative products, storage, services and professional development at the price value that Adobe is providing to Utah through this pioneering partnership.

As a stakeholder in the state of Utah, by having a large and expanding campus in the Silicon Slopes, Adobe has a vested interest of partnering with the state to empower the future workforce of Utah by enabling creative technology skills highly sought by the industry. Utah can provide an engaging learning environment that supports learning on any device, at any time, from any location, while fostering creative thinking, collaboration, and the development of in-industry digital communication skills.

Digital is not Optional!

Digitally literate students have the power to think critically, communicate effectively, and solve complex problems in creative ways.

Adobe Creative Cloud offers more than 20 industry-standard apps for design, photography, video and web. As students develop in-demand digital skills with these tools, they also learn how to express their ideas in more visually compelling ways.

"If Utah has the most technologically capable workforce and the most technology-savvy schools in the country, we are confident the economic benefits will follow."

—UEN: Essential Elements for Technology Powered Learning
