

Dear Town Council,

I would like to submit my name for consideration for the vacancy on the Rockville Planning Commission. I believe that the most important thing that a small town can have is active residents that participate in making their town a better place. I have over a decade experience consulting with (and leading) large enterprise companies. This includes financial considerations and strategic planning. I believe this experience would be of benefit to me in a position such as this. I would also appreciate the opportunity to get to know some of the residents better.

I have reviewed the town's general plan and would be willing to attend training when offered.

Sincerely,

Jacob Andersen

Dear Ms. Bell and Members of the Rockville Town Council,

This letter is to express my interest in and desire to serve on Rockville's Planning Commission. I first moved to Rockville in 1985 with my parents, John and Jeanne Arnold, as a Junior in High School. I immediately fell in love with the community. There is truly nowhere like Rockville in the world. Over the years, schooling and work have taken my wife, Kim, and I to various places in the Western US, but we have always had a love for Rockville. Our most precious memories involve visiting and spending time with our family here. We especially love the way Rockville has seemed to remain untouched by the other growth and development in the region.

We recently had the fortune to return to Rockville as permanent residents. We purchased our new home from my parents just this month and are excited to begin planting roots, both literally and figuratively, in this great community. We bring with us three teenage children, Corbin (18), Jacob (16), and Alicen (13), who have grown up loving their visits to Rockville as much as Kim and I have. They are also eager to begin making a positive contribution in their new surroundings.

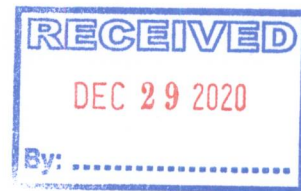

The main reason I want to serve on the Rockville Planning Commission is to help preserve the rural small town values I have loved about Rockville all of these years. I moved my family back here, because I love that it is the same town now as it has been for the past 35 years. I understand and agree with the assumptions for the future in the town's General Plan, and I bring a commitment to the longtime values of this community as we face the increasing pressures and demands for growth and development by nearby communities and tourism. These demands and pressures are real, but I believe we can answer many of these demands and provide creative solutions that will benefit the residents of Rockville first, while limiting growth and preserving the integrity, general plan, and rural feel of the community we love so much.

I will bring many talents, skills, and experiences to this position that I feel will benefit the Rockville Planning Commission. To outline a few, I'll begin with my knowledge of building and development gained by working for my dad at his landscaping company growing up in Hawaii. We dealt with many large commercial jobs contracted by both private and government enterprises. As I was barely old enough to start understanding, he included me in discussions about zoning, water rights, irrigation, erosion control, and many other relevant topics. I'm grateful for an understanding of those issues, as well as how to navigate them with involved parties, and will put them to good use on the planning commission. Next, I've developed people skills through several management positions in my career. I've learned to listen to people and enlist their input and ideas. I've learned to respect the needs of the people I serve and to inspire them to put their best foot forward as part of a team. Lastly, I've successfully owned and run two of my own small businesses for the last several years, through which I have gained experience with government regulations, budgeting, taxes, and serving clients. I believe all these knowledge and skills will combine to make me an asset to the Rockville Planning Commission. I hope to be chosen for this responsibility and look forward to serving the citizens of Rockville.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Bell:

Per our conversation last week, please place me into consideration for the open position on the Town of Rockville's Planning Commission. Having resided in Rockville for over one-year, I have come to understand the challenges facing the town and believe I could assist in the improvement of the community by direct involvement in an official capacity.

I founded and served as the president of C.A.P.O (Cardiff Associated Property Owners Association), a non-profit property owners association. The Association was formed to interface with several governmental entities that had overlapping jurisdictions in Big Cottonwood Canyon including the USDA Forest Service, Army Corps of Engineers, Salt Lake City Department of Public Utilities, Salt Lake County Health Department, Salt Lake County Sheriff, and more. In that position, I developed a new year-round water storage and delivery system serving 40 households; secured grant funding to pave the community roads; implemented road closures to limit public access through the use of rock placement and gates; managed the snow-removal for the community; organized annual community clean-up projects including fuels reduction; and several other activities.

As a member of the Big Cottonwood Canyon Association (B.C.C.A.), I served as a Community Council representative and as the Secretary to the Board. The Association was integral to finding solutions for managing the public lands that surrounded the various communities in the canyon and providing input to the various governmental agencies.

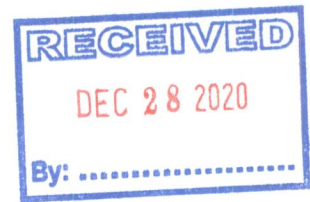

While on the B.C.C.A., I was appointed to the Salt Lake County Planning Commission's Energy Management Committee to help implement solar energy use throughout the County. I have also served on other boards including the Utah Media Arts to assist in raising funds for that organization to promote film production in the state.

I would very much like to discuss further my qualifications for this position with you and the other town officials. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Jan Fasselin

Dear Town Council,

I'm interested in serving on the Rockville Planning Commission. I know the town's general plan well and have many years experience in understanding statutes and ordinances. I think my insight could be helpful and I would appreciate the opportunity to server.

Sincerely,

To whom it may concern:

I am submitting this letter of interest for one of the vacancies on the Rockville Planning Commission. I have several years of volunteer service in many aspects of the community. Currently, I serve on the Board for Cyprus Credit Union and have done so for over 15 years. I also serve on the HOA for the Condos at Overlake in Tooele, UT. I have also served several years as a youth leader training boys to be good stewards of their community while serving those in their community.

I have the qualifications, skills, abilities, and attributes that coincide with serving in the community. With my education and Associates' degree in Mechanical Engineering, Bachelors' in Accounting, and MBA in International Business and Foreign Language, I have been integrally involved in managing projects in the construction industry. I have been able to consistently be involved in keeping projects under budget and on time.

I have received the Project Management Professional Certification from the Project Management Institute to ensure I am continually improving my skills and talents to more fully benefit the companies I have worked for and the communities I have served. Because of my education in Engineering and Business I've been able to create a niche where many fail because I am able to understand the engineering side and business side of construction projects. Additionally, I have received my General Contractors' License with the state of Utah to further enhance my credentials.

Many of my responsibilities have been related to regulated industries whether it be in the natural gas industry, explosives industry, or banking industry. I've been an integral part of implementing Sarbanes-Oxley, new financial systems, and working with acquisitions and mergers of companies, not to mention the major impact of the downturn in the economy and whether or not laws and regulations were broken or followed and how it affected people individually.

I've also assisted construction teams in ensuring they work safely, efficiently, and have what they need to do the job and ensure they recognize where they are, safety-wise, scheduling-wise, and budget-wise, and the affect they have on keeping a project on time and within budget, adhering to the laws and ordinances of the jurisdictions in which they reside, and most importantly operating safely.

I demand the highest integrity with those I work, to ensure the company and its employees are protected from dishonest procedures and people, and most importantly are safe in their conduct. This protection ensures the soundness of the company and attracts people of high integrity and ensures the communities are comfortable with the projects that bring success to them.

Please feel free to contact me at 801-450-8554 or ghtyler@outlook.com.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Brooke Wright. My family and I lived in Rockville from 2006-2011 (although my husband lived here for years before I moved to town). We bought property here in 2015 and finally built and moved back "home" in August of this year. I love Rockville- the beauty, the people and the overall feeling here. I would love to contribute to this community by serving on the planning and zoning commission.

I hope that through serving on the planning and zoning committee, I can help this town grow in the direction the founders intended while also fostering a culture of helpfulness and kindness.

Sincerely,
Brooke Wright
