

Interlocal Sustainability Action Plan

COTTONWOOD HEIGHTS

CITY COUNCIL

AUGUST 3, 2021

Plan Purpose

1

Coordinate sustainability efforts among the tri-city region of Millcreek, Holladay, and Cottonwood Heights

2

Provide a consistent sustainability vision for the future

3

Clarify city sustainability goals for interested community members

4

Qualify for various sustainability grants and incentives

History

Plan Scope

- This plan attempts to balance the needs and desires of each community. To be effective, it must be general enough to apply to the whole Tri-City Region, while also being specific enough to represent areas that each city is passionate about.
- Some strategies and policies may be more applicable to one city than others. Each community can determine which areas they wish to focus on, and at what speed/timeline.
- We anticipate that staff will use the plan to make regular recommendations on areas of sustainability focus.

Spring/Summer 2021

- In response to elected official feedback during Spring 2021, staff has made several changes to the Plan.
- The Plan is scheduled for final discussion with each City Council during Summer 2021, with anticipated action by each in late summer or early autumn.

Section	Change
City Context	Added additional projects to each city's list of accomplishments
Development	Added language related to considering solar and electric vehicle infrastructure during development processes
Energy Use	Altered Community Renewable Energy Program language to encourage program engagement rather than strict participation
Landscaping	Altered tree inventory language to specify coordination with partner agencies
Waste Management	- Added language related to consideration of Recycling Market Development Zones - Added language related to existing conservation plans from water providers
Plan Partners	- Added Utah Rivers Council and Tree Utah - Updated several staff titles for accuracy

Interlocal Sustainability Action Plan

COTTONWOOD HEIGHTS

CITY COUNCIL

AUGUST 3, 2021