Kellie Challburg discussed recent code changes to the city municipal code and how the changes affect the boards and committees.

Approval of the May 19, 2021, Meeting Minutes

Motion to approve: Ron Williams

Second: Han Kim

Subcommittee Reports:

Business and Community Relations: Han Kim mentioned that they are working closely with the South Valley Chamber on a survey for all businesses and a welcome kit for new businesses.

Han Kim was asked about his recent work as an epidemiologist and an update on COVID- 19. He said the Delta variant is hitting those unvaccinated people very hard. He commented that Utah is about in the middle of the pack on vaccination levels. He is hoping the spike will settle down and commented that the way out of the pandemic is vaccination. He also added that most communities of color are lagging behind on vaccinations.

Education Team: Kellie Challburg mentioned that she recently attended a leadership conference and Melany Moras was a guest speaker and did a fabulous job. She also thanked Ron Williams for his prayer to welcome everyone to the Draper Days concerts. The city received many positive comments about what a great job he did. Kellie added that we have great speakers in this group and is always pleased to see them out making a difference in our community.

Events Team: The committee discussed the upcoming September event. They reviewed the layout and list of performers. They commented that they would love a few more diverse entertainers and a couple of ethnic/cultural food trucks. The event is coming together. There will be flags from all over the world lining the street on 1300 East. They mentioned the need to come up with craft ideas for the youth council to help with in the activity tent.

Miscellaneous: The committee discussed several possible service projects. There were different charities discussed, such as: Feminine hygiene products for women in Kenya, partnering with Lifting Hands International, charity drives for prisoners including items like books and clothing.

Tara suggested looking into a Fun Run and a 501c3.

Motion to Adjourn: Han Kim
