New Business:

- A. Theater Production Decisions: Discussion on the production date, director and type as well as budget. The decision to upload the responses from the 2020 director call to Basecamp was made so the Arts Council can review and possibly choose a director should Shawn Kidd not be available or interested in the upcoming production. The decision to go this direction came after weighing the benefits of using Mr. Kidd as he is familiar with the venue, procedures and timelines of working with the City versus using a new applicant that could bring a different view to the production. The Arts Council will review the applicants and give their comments at the next Arts Council meeting.
- B. Program Proposals: Janell revisited the program proposal form and asked if anyone had a chance to look over it or had any ideas for upcoming programs. Jason McGuire had a few for the next Light the Night. A panel in the fountain was broken by children playing in it, even though there were signs to not go into the fountain. An idea to put luminaries around the perimeter of the fountain was brought up, as was the idea to do ice sculptures to draw people toward the south end of the event. There was also an idea to do something similar to a light sculpture at Gallivan Center. Triana stated she would go check out the one at the Gallivan Center to get ideas and details. The rest of the Arts Council agreed to give it some more consideration and revisit it in the January meeting.
- C. Artist on Display, Display Pieces: Clarification was made to the number of pieces to be purchased, as well as price clearance. The sooner these are ordered; they can be used for the Art Show.
- D. Chair Position: As Casey Eccles has stepped down from the chair position in November of 2021, the position remains open. There was some discussion over the length of term due to the timing, and it was determined that there is only 6 months left in the term. Heather Smith offered up her services, and Kelly Holtman nominated her. _____ Seconded the motion. There will need to be an email sent out to the Arts Council members that were in attendance to confirm the vote. Triana will be sending out the email.
