The Town of Rockville,

I, Don Dennett, a resident of Springdale, was called one evening by Linda Behling who said her husband, Mike needed help. Being their friend and worrying something was wrong, I drove over to his house in Rockville to see what was needed. When I arrived there, she said he was up at their gate, so I went back to the gate.

He was there. I thought he might need physical help. I help a lot of elderly people and others who need me. When I got out of my vehicle, he asked me to listen to the sounds coming from the guests at the Villas. Most of the time, it was normal sounds, but a few times while I was there it did seem a little loud. However, most of the time, it was normal.

He discussed with me that at times he was upset over the noise. But it is a place where they have guests, parties and recreation. I left after being there about 20-30 minutes.

I did not know he was going to put anything about me in whatever he wrote to the city. He did not have my permission, nor have I read anything regarding what he has proposed to the city.

Justin Maybe and the news called me tonight, which is the first I knew of any letter being submitted to the city. I have stated the same to them as I have written in this letter. I don't want to be in the middle of any problem between the Behlings and the Town of Rockville.

The Behlings are very good friends, and I hope it can stay that way.

Sincerely,

Don Dennett
