I just wanted to let you know how much I appreciate the Sargeant Family Food Bank. I am the Retention Justice Specialist for South Sargeant School District. Over the past four years of working for the School District, I have been able to help many families in our community. As part of my job, I go to homes and meet with students and families that may be struggling with attendance, anxiety, depression, or other challenges. I went to a home with a young girl having attendance issues who is living with her mother and grandparents. While I was there, I asked the grandmother if they could use any food. She said "Yes," and she started to cry. She said I was like an answer to her prayers. I contacted the Food Bank and they arranged for me to pick up a couple of boxes of food and supplies. When I went to the home and gave the boxes, the grandmother started to cry and gave me a hug. Another time I took a couple of boxes of food to a home that was struggling with multiple issues including not having any food. When I got the boxes out of my vehicle a 5-year-old daughter took some apples out of the box before I could get the boxes to the porch. She ended up giving me a hug and said, "Thank you." I also took some food from the Food Bank provided to a family that was living out of a camping trailer that didn't have any connections and they had to haul the water and run a generator for power. Just recently I took some food to a family who had their mom in the hospital. The father was struggling with employment and paying the bills. Again, when I was there, I asked the family if they could use some food. The father started to tear up and said yes. I arranged with the Food Bank, and they provided me with 4 boxes of food and supplies. I took the food to the home where I found out that there are 5 young kids and parents that are struggling with having food and paying bills. Mr. McLean, I truly appreciate you and the Sargeant Family Food Bank. These are not the only times I have accessed the food bank and you help so many more stories. I do want you to know that the families in this community as well as appreciate this very important resource in the community.

Sincerely,
