COMMENTS:

Iron County was contacted regarding this proposed project and responded with the following comment(s):

"Iron County appreciates the opportunity to comment on the proposal as it is an important range improvement project for grazing in this area. Installation of a water line and trough are important to better manage grazing resources. Drought conditions have plagued this area during the past year and these range improvements will help improve grazing and other resources in the area."

Iron County is pleased that SITLA is working with the livestock owners on proposals such as this project."
