

Utah Trust Lands Beneficiaries

Lands originally designated by Congress at statehood are held in trust specifically to generate revenue for the support of 12 beneficiary institutions. Each beneficiary institution receives an annual distribution from their respective permanent fund. These funds provide an important source of revenue for many of Utah's most important public purposes.

Utah Land Trusts
Protection &
Advocacy Office

Public and Higher Education

Utah's Trust System financially supports the state's commitment to quality education. Perpetual endowments for the following institutions continue to grow, and become more impactful each year.

Public Schools Trust

101.8 M distributed to Utah K-12 schools at no cost to taxpayers, benefiting over 600,000 students in 2023-2024.

Public Schools

Schools for the Deaf and Blind

University of Utah

College of Mines and Earth Sciences

Colleges of Education

Utah State University

Health and Human Services

Three trust beneficiary endowments provide financial support for health and human service institutions. Assisting with the treatment of disabilities and illnesses as well as mental and behavioral health treatment for all ages.

Miners Hospital

Established in 2004 to provide health care to disabled Utah miners. Served over 2,500 patients in the last 5 years. 1,704 miners are currently enrolled and receiving treatment.

Miners Hospital Trust Beneficiary

Utah State Hospital

Juvenile Justice and Youth Services

Public Buildings and Reservoirs

Since statehood, construction and renovation of state public buildings, as well as development of critical water infrastructure, have benefited from trust proceeds.

Public Buildings

$4.4 million, helped offset the costs of the extensive renovation and restoration of the State Capitol in 2004-2008.

Public Buildings

Reservoirs

In addition to providing meaningful funding for its beneficiaries, the trust lands system contributes significantly to the economic viability of many communities throughout the state.

Utah Land Trusts
Protection &
Advocacy Office