Review of 2022-2023 Budget Amendments

Mayor Chris Anderson asked Dave Oxman to share the final adjustments. Dave stated that overall, the changes were good. They were a result of more income, projects, grants, and interest rates being up. A transfer from $26,761 in the water fund to the general fund was made to pay back the general fund for the ARPA wage increase. In capital funds there were lighting upgrades and maintenance improvements. Water adjustments were mostly with the ARPA fund and NRCS ongoing projects. There were no changes in the sewer fund. The power fund felt the pinch of the energy sector like most cities in Utah. There were losses due to the market that needed to be adjusted. Council Member Craig Clark stated that it was nice to have more money come in than was anticipated and to know that our budget is balanced. Mayor Anderson stated that not all things can be anticipated like the flooding preparations and the electrical huge increases. It is nice to know that the city will be alright.
